

I Can Read Books Series, Harper, 1998, 64 Pages

When Sally moves into the house next door, Emma's mom thinks it will be easy for the two girls to become friends. But Emma is so shy, she can barely even read out loud in school. Will Emma ever make friends with her new neighbor? Emma is so shy she can barely read out loud in school, and when a new girl moves in next door, Emma isn't sure she can make friends. But a happy coincidence leads the two to share a winter of magical make-believe. And with the help of her new best friend, Emma discovers she can overcome her shyness even at school. Beginning readers will treasure the perfect blend of engaging text and appealing pictures that celebrates the magic of friendship.